About the Woman of God

Multi award-winning Gospel Artist, Minister, and Industry Executive, Minister LeKeisha Taylor-Cotten is a Mississippi Delta native from Indianola, Mississippi — the birthplace of legendary icons, including B.B. King. A powerful voice in ministry, media, and music, she is known for blending authentic worship, prophetic preaching, leadership, and community impact into a ministry that transforms lives.

Minister LeKeisha has ministered across 21 states and 9 countries, sharing platforms with internationally recognized artists and leaders including Donald Lawrence, Kirk Franklin, CeCe Winans, Tamela Mann, Le’Andria Johnson, and more. She has also ministered before governors, presidents, ambassadors, and thousands around the world through conferences, revivals, television, and worship experiences.

WORSHIPPER | PROPHETIC | REVIVALIST

In 2017, she founded the Gulf Coast Gospel Music Awards Academy (GCGMA), an organization dedicated to honoring excellence while impacting generations through music, ministry, education, and development. Through GCGMA, over 2,000 individuals have been recognized internationally for their contributions to faith, music, leadership, and community service.

Her work in philanthropy and recovery outreach includes serving as a Community Recovery Leader following Hurricane Katrina, helping develop a recovery initiatives manual titled “How To Rebuild A Village After A Storm”, which was submitted to national leadership including former President George Bush and President Barack Obama.

Minister Cotten continues to serve globally through worship, preaching, leadership teaching, media, mentorship, entrepreneurship, and community transformation — empowering people to heal, grow, lead, and walk boldly in purpose.
